Objective

PYREC offers young scientists the ideal and financial framework to achieve the above-mentioned goals in professional and methodological terms in a predominantly self-organised manner. In addition to the continuous development of professional skills, soft skills, leadership qualities and appreciation are becoming increasingly important. PYREC offers the space for testing and further development.

Contents	High-quality interdisciplinary specialist and methodological event formats with top representatives from science, business, politics and society.
Organiser and co-operation partners	University of Passau: Graduate Centre, Vice President for Research; Passau International Centre for Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies (PICAIS), Bavarian Graduate Program in Economics (BGPE)
